

COHEN'S DUAL LIFE.

Mrs. Russell's Relations With the Noted Ball Jumper.

LITTLE MONEY FOR THE WIFE.

But Plenty for the Woman With Whom He Lived in an Establishment—Known as Lawyer Russell Himself—Did He Originate the Will Conspiracy?

NEW YORK, July 13.—Now that Lawyer Byron W. Cohen has jumped his bail and disappeared, after having failed to secure the millions of the late Loring A. Robertson, the detectives have inquired into his antecedents. It has been discovered that he was leading a dual life. While he supported his wife and fourteen-year-old son Clarence at No. 209 East Fifty-second street, and lived with them part of the time, he kept up another establishment in the St. James, a brownstone house at No. 850 Eighth avenue. Here he rented a flat in the second story four years ago, which he furnished handsomely and lived in most of the time with Mrs. Russell, a woman of the dashing kind, whom he introduced to a particular set of friends as his wife. In fact, he was known in this section of the city as Mr. Russell until January last, when the legal wife, with her son, burst into the Russell apartments and made a big scene. Cohen introduced himself to the Russell woman twelve years ago through an advertisement and since then has provided her with every luxury. While with his lawful wife he was thrifty enough.

When the conspiracy exposure came the establishment was broken up, and it is supposed Cohen and Mrs. Russell moved to One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. As Lawyer Russell he moved mostly among theatrical and sporting people; as Lawyer Cohen in staid business circles. Mrs. Cohen has not sued for separation or divorce, and the detectives say if they could locate Mrs. Russell they would surely find Cohen with her.

Detective Lawrence Neome, who entrapped Cassie Brooks and induced her to turn state's evidence, says of this picturesque Cohen affair: "It is possible the strain on his resources necessitated by keeping up two establishments drove Cohen into the conspiracy, though I don't think so. I don't believe it was he, in fact, who first conceived the scheme. He had as correspondent a lawyer named Dimmick, who resides in a small town in Greene county, Pa., not far from the section of country where Mr. Robertson lived. This man was often seen in New York only he or a resident of that section could have known so much about Helen Brewer, whom Cassie Brooks, the bogus widow, was to personate. All the Robertson heirs had heard of Helen Brewer in their time, and would not be surprised if the millionaire had got entangled with her. Hence they might be easily induced to make a settlement, and, as there are twelve of them, each of whom was asked to pay $10,000 rather than go to law, $120,000 would have passed into Cohen hands, and most of it would have stuck there."

"It was found upon investigation that Helen Brewer had disappeared, but when I went to Wayne county I found her there. She had just returned from a trip to Philadelphia. Here, then, were two Helen Brewers. It was by the merest accident I found out the false Helen, who was posing as the Widow Robertson. She was having a good time with her friends on Sixteenth street, and while exhilarated she said: 'Don't you know that I am the wealthy Widow Robertson?' It is not very far from Sixteenth street to the city hall, and this having reached me, I arrested Cassie and took her to the Gladstone building, where I board. I kept her there a week. She acted like a well-bred lady, and what was better, she confessed everything."

"What will they do with her now?" "That is for the District Attorney to decide. I am in hopes that Cohen will yet turn up, and perhaps make a confession in turn. If anything happens to Cassie there would be missing a big link in the chain of evidence, but I believe she can be trusted to act squarely."

Cohen was a member of the Turtle and other uptown clubs, and drank rather sparingly, but played a stiff game of poker. He was a close friend of Dam, and it was through him Mr. Dam disposed of the Union Square Hotel at such a good figure not long since. Cohen and Dam had also an interest in the lease of the Third Avenue Theater, and it is this interest that will cover the forfeit of Bailman Buxton. It is thought that when the entente cordiale has been re-established between Connecticut and New York Cohen will either return or fly to Canada.

Row in a Court Room.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., July 13.—The Montgomery county bar is stirred up over the action of ex-City Attorney White in striking City Attorney Reynolds a violent blow in the face while they were trying a case before George B. White as referee. During the proceedings Mr. White resented a remark of Reynolds and in a great rage called the latter a liar. Reynolds was sitting down when struck. He will commence action for assault, and the referee will assess a heavy fine on White for contempt of court. Both lawyers are prominent in society, and are leading politicians of the Mohawk valley.

Refused to Sign the Scale.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 13.—Moorehold Bros. & Co., the proprietors of the Sharsburg Iron Works, have refused to sign the plate rolling scale of the Amalgamated Association and a bitter fight is expected. The firm claims that the wages of the plate rollers are too high, and that a reduction must be accepted or the scale will not be signed. Compared with other departments, the plate men have been paid the highest wages, the average for the year being about $5,000.

Green Glass Blowers.

ST. LOUIS, July 13.—The Green Glass Blowers' Association met in fifteenth annual convention at 9 o'clock this morning, 95 delegates being present. The object of the meeting is to fix a scale of wages and to look after the interests of the trade generally. The meetings will be secret.

Probably Murdered and Robbed.

FAIRPLAY, COL., July 13.—In a lonely ravine a few minutes from town two men were killed on Saturday and robbed. The dead men are Andy Peterson and N. O. Anderson. There are evidences of a terrible struggle on the roadway and blood on the mountain side, and the bullet wounds in each body show that a desperate fight had been waged. A number of suspicious characters have been seen lurking about the locality of late, which was the favorite spot of highwaymen when the stages ran to Leadville.

SCALDING STEAM.

Burned People to Death—The Terrible Accident at Aspen.

ASPER, COL., July 13.—Frank Ellis, the eighth victim of the Midland disaster at Aspen Junction, died at eight minutes of 10 this morning. Leonard and wife cannot live, and Thomas and Mary O'Donnell are now considered at the point of death. Miss O'Donnell has not a particle of skin on her hips. Mr. O'Donnell's principal injuries are from inhaling scalding steam, he not being so badly burned about the face as the others. It is now reported that none of the injured can survive.

A party of Midland officials have just reached here from the scene of the accident, having gone there this morning from Colorado Springs. Their report of the affair differs materially from that first given out. It is as follows:

A freight train was standing on a side track alongside the main track ready to be pulled out by Engineer Shepard with the engine which was coming out of the round house. The switchman had thrown the switch for the light engine when he noticed the excursion train backing down from the tank. He immediately signalled both trains to stop, which they did. He then signalled the light engine to back up, and the brakemen on the rear end of the passenger, which had been backing up, also took the order. The result was a "cornering" of the coach and the engine at the switch, the window of the compartment coach taking off the check valve as before stated.

The light engine immediately stopped and the opening in the boiler made by the loss of the valve, being directly opposite an open window in the compartment of the coach which contained all the passengers except the three colored men, belched forth its awful death dealing vapor. All the other windows and doors of the cars were closed, hence the compartment took on the nature of a steam chest. The nature of the accident is such that it is a wonder any of the occupants of the ill-fated coach are living.

A BIG OIL CASE.

On Trial at Parkersburg—The Mysterious Case of Chas. Pierce.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., July 13.—The big case of G. L. Watson against the Brown Oil Company, and others, in ejectment, is now on trial in the United States court. There are two oil wells involved, which have produced up to date about 17,000 barrels of oil. Messrs. Ambler, Hutchinson, Judge Stanley, Governor Jackson and McClure and Tavenner are the lawyers in the case. All the other oil cases in which the Brown Oil Company is involved have been compromised and settled. This case presented a point upon which they could not agree, and it has gone to trial. Chas. Pierce, the young man who was found in an unconscious condition last Thursday at his boarding house, did not regain consciousness at all and died last night. It was a very mysterious case.

A Kind of Convention.

CADIZ, O., July 13.—The Democrats held a kind of convention here to-day, and nominated the following ticket: Treasurer, J. M. Scriber; County Recorder, Frank Smith; Sheriff, Andrew J. Devore; Commissioner, Eli P. Moore; Inferior Director, James Cooke; Surveyor, J. E. Henderson; Coroner, Dr. D. H. Caldwell. The convention instructed for Campbell, and the Neal men went away in a bad humor. This county instructed for Neal two years ago.

CLOSED ITS AFFAIRS.

The Boatmen's Fire and Marine Insurance Company Closes.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 13.—The Boatmen's Fire and Marine Insurance Company, of this city, organized in 1864, decided to-day to wind up its affairs and go out of business. The capital stock of the company is $250,000 and the reserve $50,000. The risks, aggregating $3,370,000, have been assumed by the Norwich Union Insurance Society of England. The stock of the company has not paid a dividend for five years and the stockholders deemed it best to close up to save further loss.

Oneida Bankers Fail.

NEW YORK, July 13.—E. C. Starke & Co., bankers at Oneida, N. Y., have failed for a large sum. The figures are now placed at $220,000. This may be too large, but the amount is somewhere near that figure.

Lost Both Children.

SIXO SING, N. Y., July 13.—Capt. George Walker, a German, accompanied by his two children, a boy aged five, and a girl of thirteen, rowed from Croton Point to this village yesterday. Returning later in the afternoon, one of the children was leaning over the boat, when her father grabbed at her, upsetting the boat. Both children were drowned.

Work of Incendiaries.

READING, Pa., July 13.—Within the past few weeks a dozen buildings, including dwellings, barns, mills, etc., have been destroyed by fire in Herford township, this county, within a radius of three miles, entailing an aggregate loss of over $50,000. The people are thoroughly alarmed, and officers are reported to have run down the fire bugs.

Entire Block Burned.

TRAVENTON, ILL., July 13.—Yesterday afternoon a fire broke out in the Hammel and Louden barn. The building and contents and an entire block of five buildings were burned. The loss will reach $15,000; insurance $5,000.

Shoddy Mill Burned.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 13.—The shoddy mill of Walworth & Co., West Philadelphia, has been destroyed by fire. Loss $22,000; insurance $15,000.

In the Name of the Prophet! Cry the vendors of the fruit in Constantinople. Certainly a "great cry over a little wood." Scarcely less foolish is the practice of those who fly to violent physicking for constipation. They dose themselves violently, weaken their bowels by so doing, and disable them from acting regularly, so that, verily, the last condition of such people is worse than the first. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the safe and effective substitute for such rash expedients. But no, let us not call them expedients, for it is by no means expedient to use them. What is needed is a gentle but thorough laxative, which not only insures action of the bowels without pain or weakening effects, which also promotes a healthy secretion and leads into its proper channel, dyspepsia, debility, kidney complaints, rheumatism and malaria give in to the Bitters.

A MADMAN'S ACT.

He Attempts the Life of President Carnot of France.

PARIS, July 13.—There was considerable excitement to-day throughout Paris, caused by the report that President Carnot has been shot. This rumor proved upon investigation to be untrue, but there was foundation for the report. The President was present to-day at the ceremonies of the official opening of a thoroughfare, the Avenue De La Republique, where he received an enthusiastic welcome. Suddenly a man, wild-eyed and making gestures, forced his way through the crowd and pushed past the soldiers on duty about the spot where the ceremonies were taking place. This man rushed up to the carriage in which the President had driven up to the new avenue, and fired a pistol at M. Carnot. As he did so, the man shouted "I'll prove that there are more bastilles to be demolished."

President Carnot was undoubtedly alarmed at what appeared to be a direct attempt upon his life, but the President was unhurt, and soon regained his entire presence of mind.

The man who fired the shot was promptly arrested by the police, and such was the anger of the crowd present that the officers had the greatest difficulty in protecting their prisoner from becoming the victim of the popular fury which he had excited. As it was, it required the services of a strong force of police to escort the man in safety to the nearest police station. Upon arriving there, the man's examination soon disclosed the fact that he was a madman, and that he had just been released from confinement in a lunatic asylum.

A CONFUSED EMPLOYEE.

Causes a Fatal Railroad Accident in France.

PARIS, July 12.—A most serious accident happened yesterday to the special train running between Calais and Paris in connection with the club train service between London and Calais. The club train came into collision with an express train from Lille. Both trains were entering the gare du nord (Northern railroad depot) when the club train dashed into the rear of the Lille train, causing a terrific shock to both. The conductor's caboose and a second-class carriage of the Lille express were wrecked and another car of the same train was much damaged. All the passengers on board the club train escaped without injury, but two passengers and the conductor and a brakeman of the express were seriously hurt. Ten other passengers were extricated from the debris of the wrecked train, all suffering from shock and confusion. Madame Regnier, one of the Lille passengers who was among those most seriously injured, has since died in the hospital. The signal man admits that he omitted to signal the club train to stop, as he had become confused at the number of trains running in and out of the gare du nord.

THE EMPEROR'S VISIT.

How He Enjoyed the Day—The Prince of Wales to Visit Germany in State.

LONDON, July 13.—The Emperor of Germany this morning rode through the most interesting parts of Hatfield Park, Lord Salisbury having issued orders to the effect that every part of the park was to be thrown open in order to enable the Emperor to roam in any direction he desired. Upon his return to Hatfield house the Emperor lunched in the marble hall. All the ambassadors and ministers and their wives and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain were present. It is reported that the Emperor has invited the Prince and Princess of Wales to visit Germany in full state during the coming autumn and that the Prince and Princess have, with the consent of Queen Victoria, accepted the invitation. The Emperor of Germany has presented Lord Salisbury with a splendid Dresden clock made especially for the British Premier.

Revolution in Guatemala.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 13.—Advices from Guatemala say: Information has been received from Quetzaltenango to the effect that the mountains are full of discontented men who are organizing for war. Revolutionary proclamations are plentiful. The outbreaks so far are unimportant, as the rebels are not united, but union will be effected. President Barillas is sending troops to Quetzaltenango, although he claims that no revolution exists.

Great Flood in Melbourne.

MELBOURNE, July 13.—The heavy and incessant rains which have prevailed here for some time past have caused a serious overflow of the Yarra river. The streets of this city have been inundated by the overflow, which has not been equalled since 1863. All the railroads are blocked, and many of the streets in the suburbs are entirely submerged. Thousands of people are homeless, and the misery resulting from the inundation is widespread.

Recognizes the Guarantee Law.

ROME, July 13.—The Diritto says that the Pope will institute an action to establish his right over a piece of land at Castel Gandolfo derived under the law of guarantees. This action implies the Pope's acceptance of the law of guarantees, which the Vatican has refused to recognize during the past twenty years.

AS THERE is no royal road to learning, so there is no magical cure for disease. The effect, however, of taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for the blood disorders comes as near magic as can be expected of any mere human agency. This is due to its purity and strength.

Purify Your Blood

The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

SOME MERCHANTS would have you believe that trade enters a condition of torpidity about July 1, and remains so till the cool days of September wake it to life and activity again.

But, begging your pardon, that is not true. There is no season of the year in which people do not buy goods; there is no season in which they do not want them. By the same token, there is no season in which it will not pay to advertise.

However, if your neighbor has this old-fashioned notion, and is too conservative to advertise now, there is all the better chance for you. If you think people are not hunting bargains in warm weather, try it. Everybody is not out of town, by a large majority!
